Stewardship strategy contributes to positive change

#sustainableworld

Our stewardship strategy shows the way that EQ contributes to impact. We realise that there is no perfect company or asset manager, and we use our influence through five key levers to affect change. This includes engaging with fund managers on their own voting & stewardship ambition, directly engaging with companies through collaborations and AGM attendance, and pushing for change across following strategic themes:

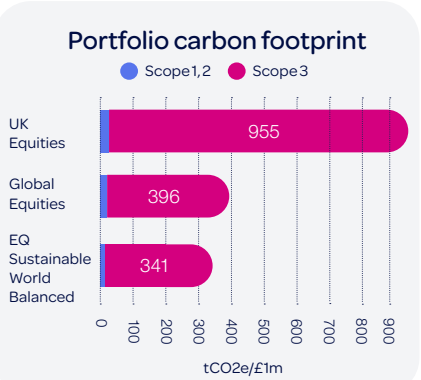

- Climate Change
- Artificial Intelligence
- Biodiversity Risks
- Human Rights & Modern Slavery
- Healthy Nutrition

Climate reporting

Climate change is a global issue, which our portfolios limit their contribution to. Our carbon footprinting and science-based target tracking helps us assess this, and align portfolios to global climate targets.

SCIENCE BASED TARGETS
DRIVING AMBITIOUS CORPORATE CLIMATE ACTION

Independent verification by the Science Based Targets initiative offers a reliable way to judge whether businesses are serious about reducing their emissions over the long term.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of investments and the income derived from them can go down as well as up, so you could get back less than you originally invested.
