

Best Ideas 5 - Cautious Plus Model Portfolio Factsheet

30 Nov 2021

Our signature strategy invests in the very best ideas unearthed by our research team. This includes both specialist, actively managed funds and passive tracker funds, with an overall aim of beating the market.

This portfolio maintains a bias towards lower volatility investments with equity holdings limited to 60%. It focuses on capital protection with a moderate participation in equity market growth, and aims to reduce investment risk by diversifying across regions and asset classes. We benchmark this portfolio against the UK Consumer Price Index (UK CPI).

Kasim Zafar, CFA

Kasim is EQ's Investment Strategist and also the Investment Manager for the EQ Investors Best Ideas and Low Cost model portfolios. He leads EQ's research in portfolio strategy and supports the investment team's fund research across all asset classes. He began his career in investments in 2002 at a boutique alternative investment specialist, moving into multi-asset investing in 2010. He has gained experience as an investment manager and analyst across global capital markets, building portfolios with varying risk and return objectives. Kasim is a CFA charter holder, being a regular member of the CFA Institute and CFA UK. He graduated with a BSc (Hons) in Physics from Imperial College.

Model performance is shown in sterling, net of underlying fund charges and an EQ management fee of 0.59% (including VAT) per annum, but excludes platform and advice fees. Underlying fund charges may vary depending on platform. All income reinvested; actual returns may vary. UK Consumer Price Index (CPI) is the commonly accepted measure of domestic inflation, following average month on month changes in the prices of goods and services purchased by UK households. Due to significant lag on CPI valuation, the previous month's CPI figure is carried over to the latest month. Data sources: EQ, Morningstar.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. The value of investments and income derived from them can go down as well as up and you may get back less than originally invested.

Asset allocation

Asset class outlook

Equities: We have a cautiously positive outlook based on the ongoing recovery in the major global economies. The pace of growth should slow relative to the rebound from reopening economies, which is good for corporate earnings. Tempering our enthusiasm is the new variant's potential to create renewed economic disruption; the risk of inflation; and uncertainty from the heavy-handed regulatory crackdown on Chinese internet companies.

Bonds: While holding ourselves back from an overtly bullish outlook, we maintain a neutral exposure to the defensive qualities of bonds. But given risks from higher inflation and rising interest rates, we prefer inflation linked bonds and those with a shorter time left to maturity as a good store of value.

Property: As we get a better picture of economic scarring, commercial property could once again offer a compelling alternative to low yielding bonds.

Alternatives: Our preference continues to be for discretionary strategies that can wade through the highly abnormal environment. We continue to avoid systematic strategies with the one exception of trend following which we think should soon return to form as global uncertainty levels fall.

Cash: We maintain cash levels at neutral.

Equities breakdown

Equities outlook

North America: While slowing from the rebound of economic re-opening, business sentiment is still strong. Supply chains to companies are stretched, with businesses reporting order backlogs and low inventories. Equity market valuations are getting less expensive, and earnings reports are strong. We maintain a slight underweight.

UK: Arrival of the omicron variant casts a shadow over the apparent severed link between rising case numbers and hospitalisations. Rising orders for capital goods is a good indication that businesses are starting to make long term plans with the uncertainty of Brexit behind us. We maintain a neutral stance for now.

Europe: The accelerating vaccination programme and robust global demand is improving confidence. Meanwhile, expertise in environmental equities should provide a tailwind to growth. We maintain our overweight.

Japan: The increase in corporate investment for the future should support Japan's manufacturing industry given its expertise in robotics & automation. Improved vaccination rates should also lead to an improvement in consumer sentiment. We maintain a slight overweight.

Asia: Asian equities are dominated by i) Chinese internet companies which are under increasing regulatory pressure and ii) the region's semiconductor companies which are enjoying strong global demand. The region's zero tolerance approach to COVID creates some disruption, which could increase further with the new variant. We reduce our overweight.
